The data reporting system of RBI does not generate the information in the manner asked for. The experience of the lending institutions as regards credit card scheme for farmers is concerned is as under:

(1)"The Scheme is more popular in irrigated tracks as compared to dry land areas. The Scheme is more successful in high potential areas like Punjab, Western U.P. and Haryana.

(2) The Card holder is left with sufficient time to market his produce to get better price as he need not resort to distress sale.

(3) The utilisation of the scheme is satisfactory.

(4) The system is not well taken in the market as the suppliers of 'goads insist.on cash payment rather than receiving cheques from the farmers, collcctipn of which, many a time, involves some 'Charges, especially when the farmer has,purchased crop input from a place other Uian where the financing branch is located and the Cheque.- has been presented to another branch for collections toy the supplier of goods.

'Reserve Bank of India (RBI) and National Bank for Agriculture and Rural Development (NABARD) agrees to the suggestions of Agricultural, Credit Review "Committee (ACRC) that cash credit system may be tried in perennially irrigated areas with multiple dropping where farmer borrowers are likely to have surplus funds and likely to have credit needs at frequent intervals. Even in SJICH/aroaSj the facility can. be extended by banks selectively to borrowers with good record, of operations and repayment. The information system in RBI does not generate :data -separately about the nationalised banks implementing the cash credit system.
